

Girls' Glee Club Of Training School To Give Operetta Song

"Jack And The Beanstalk" Is Chorus Of Glee Club For Annual Production

"Jack and the Beanstalk" is the title of the operetta that was selected by the Junior High City Glee Club of the Training school for their annual production. Keith Davis, director of the chorus, says that the cast will be announced next week, and that the performance will be given on early March. This is the first time a musical program has been given in the Brookings high school, so now the voices can be heard easily without the aid of a microphone. Dramatized and adopted by N. Mitchell Hildreth, with the music by Carol Christopher, "Jack in the Beanstalk" is an adaptation of the fable with the same title.

Jack returns from slaying the giant first his mother penitence. He tells "Ma," the core, of his deed, and she, in turn, tells him of the window in a cave of events. The next morning, "Ma" beanstalk outside to find his father. He returns with a tale of his adventures in the home of an ogre. Suddenly a terrible noise is heard from above, and the girls are told to get ready. Jack has followed Jack to fight for his life. In this tale which follows, he is slain. Jack now brings the core, "Yallahs," with the girls. The girls are told to get ready, and she has been teaching the girls to sing. The girls are encouraged to sing the next week.

An interesting scene is the "Jack and the Beanstalk" scene, which is unusual and wonderful adaptation for the four corners. The "Ma" scene is also unusual, as the girls are encouraged to sing the next week.

Colleges Start Move To Stop Syphilis Lead With Victory Over Eastern 50-35

Blood Tests Show Two Out Of Every 1,000 Tests Positive

According to a recent report from the Associated College Press in Washington, blood tests of 72,388 undergraduates in more than 500 American colleges indicate that 3 out of every 1,000 students examined are infected with syphilis, a rate which is practically the same of non-college people of the same age.

These findings are incorporated in a study prepared by staff members of the United States Public Health Service for the monthly Journal of the American Medical Association.

The rate of infection for the general population in the age group 18-19 years, based on estimates for 1938, is 1.8 percent. The rate for college students is 3.5 percent, a rate which is practically the same of non-college people of the same age.

Other findings of the survey show that 15 percent less syphilis is found in the general population, a difference, it may be noted, which is not reflected in the prevalence rates by sex. There is no difference in the rate among college women than among men of the same age group.

The survey also shows, however, between one region in the United States and another, for either sex, or between the rates on a national basis, that the rate is higher in the South than in the North.

ican-English dictionary, and they have come across a couple of facts that may be of interest to you. For instance:

They've found that use of the word "co-ed" was first made in 1892, and first got recognition in the old "Independent" in 1907 in this sentence: "The fellows in body may laugh at the co-ed yet they rarely fail to open close a door for them." May that be meant as a bit of lefthanded etiquette lesson for

And the "college widow" is given recognition with his definition: "A 'college widow' is the unfortunate young woman who, having been the pet of several college generations without making a single permanent capture, at last finds herself deserted of admirers."
